These celebrated Bitters are composed of choice Roots, Herbs, and Barks, among which are Gentian, Sarsaparilla, Wild Cherry, Dandelion, Juniper, and other berries, and are so prepared as to retain all their medicinal qualties. They invariably cure or greatly relieve the following complaints: Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Headache, Bilious Attacks, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Ague, Cold Chills, Rheumatism, Summer Complaints, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Female Difficulties, Lassitude, Low Spirits, General Debility, and, in fact, everything caused by an impure state of the Blood or deranged condition of Stomach, Liver, or Kidneys. The aged find in the Quaker Bitters a gentle, soothing stimulant, so desirable in their declining years. No one can remain long unwell (unless afflicted with an incurable disease) after taking a few bottles of the Quaker Bitters.

At their Great Medical Depot, PROVIDENCE, R. I. FOR SALE EVERYWHERE,

Lay secrets which no man might know

Suddenly, the exultant shout, From East, from West, in lengthening trains, Men rushed to pluck the secret out.

No balm of quiet or bloom of sky, The flowers lay withering in the sun,

While Hate and Murder, side by side, And Famine pale and wild Despair,

Men came, with labor and with pains, To heal the scar on Nature's breast.

Scythes clinked and axes gayly rung, And plow and harrow turned the soil Where once the miner's cradle swung. Out of the rent and trampled earth,

The fairest harvest of the three. As beauteous as the vanished flowers, And yellow as the all-yellow gold,

Sand Mountain.

PAPER No. 1.

The Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad passes under the shadow of a beautiful mountain, a spur of the Blue Ridge, putting down to the southeast and subsiding in the rolling uplands of northern Alabama; a mountain having within its area perhaps a hundred thousand acres and the grasses with success. of government land.

Only nine hundred feet at its greatest height, having on the north the protection of higher ranges, its winters are less rigorous; while in summer, the almost constant breeze is bland and invigorating. A narrow valley on the southeast separates it from Lookout, and this position is supposed to be peculiarly adapted to the wants of consumptives and, indeed, sufferers of many classes of diseases, mineral springs, iron, sulphur, base, and wonderful tonic properties existing in the air. Added to this is the charm of scenery, which some, who have exchanged nods with the White Mountains, greetings with the hills of the fair Hudson; who have been bewitched with the cold and awful fascinations of the Rocky Mountains, pronounce unrivaled.

Would have here a bed of oak, there of hickory, a belt of pine, there a convention of maple, walnut, oak, hickory, blackgum, chestnut, poplar, willow, cedar, locust, sweetgum, with tangled thickets of crab-apple, plum, and hazel-nut. healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair, It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the ass and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a rew growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so unleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only henefit but not harm it. A correspondent of the New York Times writes, in effect, that while the temperance crusade in Ohio has passed into history, and the saloons have resumed, its results are seen in an awakened public sentiment—a permanent good ation as will afford protection to domes of a different character from that chiefly tie manufactures and best promote and sought by its promoters. The license proposition, submitted with the vote on the proposed constitution, is defeated, and now they are asking for a Local Option law which shall give to every township, village, city and city ward, the choice between prohibition or simply restrictive laws. Thus the crusade has died on street and in saloon but has a resurrection in politics.

We suggest that while this new state of existence is a good one to act in, it if also somewhat precarious, and that the women should keep on praying.

Beecher-Tilton Scandal.

The report of the Investigating Comnittee has been presented to Plymouth church. It was accepted by the church, Mr. Moulton alone voting in the nega It concludes as follows:

First. We find from the evidence that the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher did not commit adultery with Mrs. Elizabeth R. Tilton, either at the time or times, place or places set forth in the third and fourth sub-divisions of Mr. Tilton's statement, nor at any other time or place whatever.

Second. We find from the evidence that Mr. Beecher has never committed any unchaste or improper act with Mrs. Tilton, nor made any unchaste or improper remark, proffer or solicitation to her of any kind or description what-

Third. If this were a question of errors of judgment on the part of Mr. Beecher, it would be easy to criticise, esecially in the light of the recent events, n such criticism, even to the extent of egrets and censures, we are sure no man would join more sincerely than Mr. Beecher himself.

The papers generally approve of the report of Plymouth church investigating committee as the only conclusion possi-ble in the evidence before them, but criticise its partizan tone, and think it will do little to change the minds of other believers or disbelievers in Beech-

Mr. Francis D. Moulton attended the mouth church prayer last Friday evening, and made himself conspicuous by calling Prof. R. W. Raymond a liar, when the latter said he (Moulton) has tried to poison the public mind against Beecher. When the report of the committee was submitted, Moulton alone voted "no." These things enraged the vast audience, and when Moulton left the church, he narrowly escaped mob violence. The scene is reported as follows by the Tribune : At the close of the exercises, when the audience rose to retire, Mr. Moulton, ac-companied by friends and policemen in uniform, and one or more detectives in citizens' dress at his side, made his way from the reporter's table toward the left hand rear entrance of the audience room. Before he reached the door, a small crowd had settled close about him, some of whom hooted at him and applied insulting epithets. As he was passing through the inner door, where the crush behind was very severe, the most boist erous demonstrations were made. One old man sprang forward with a great show of rage, trying to strike or seize hold of Mr. Moulton. Several police officers now interfered, planting themselves between Mr. Moulton and the crowd, and threatening with their clubs. For a moment a general fight was imminent in the hallway, but Mr. Moulton and his friends had hardly reached the narrow alley alongside the church before a score of persons had succeeded in passing the squad of police. Half way down the alley they overtook him, and he was again in danger of personal violence. It was a respectable looking crowd, else it might be termed a mob; but for the time being there was respectability run man. He was hurried through the alley, the darkness serving to hide him, and his friends protecting him from attack as well they could, until, when he reached the iron gate opening upon the Orange street sidewalk, another crowd met him, and a general rush was made. An additional police force here threw themselves into the midst, their clubs and threats cut the air with equal force, and by a rapid and direct movement Mr. Moulton was hustled into his carriage. During all this time the crowd was noisy with excitement. The street resounded with the mob-like shouts of "Club him!" "Knock him down!" "Shoot him!" The policemen were thick, and were able to prevent any personal injury to Mr. Moulton, but while he entered his carriage it was entirely surrounded, and an attempt was made to hold it back. A few rash ones caught the bridles of the excited and unreasonable, seized hold of the wheels, and steps, and doors. When Mr. Moulton and one or two friends were safely inside, Capt. Bourne, of the second precinct police, sprang upon the driver's seat, the whip was quickly laid upon the horses, the driver turned them were trying to detain the carriage. Whirling along Orange street, the horses upon a fast run, many followed with equal rapidity and still sounding forth reproaches, until the carriage had turned egar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BIT-TERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient re-covers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Touic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Billious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT.

Soon after our last edition was print ed, we received notice from Messrs. Syle and Newell, stating that the steamer Victoria, of the Anchor line, which was to leave Scotland with the pedestal, had her machinery disabled, and another steamer, India, which is a slow vessel, took her place, and is expected to arrive about September 6th.

In consequence of this delay the dedication of the Clerc Memorial has been further postponed till Wednesday, September 16th, 1874.

This is, indeed, a very unfortunate occurrence, but is entirely unavoidable on the part of the Executive Committee, and no blame is attached to any of them Had they not been assured of the delivery of the pedestal in time to be dedi cated yesterday (Sept. 2), they would not have thought of appointing that

We sincerely hope nothing else will happen to cause another delay, and that, out of gratitude for Mr. Clerc, no one will allow himself or herself to be denied an opportunity of attending, notwithstanding the delay.

In another column of this issue will be found a notice from Mr. C. S. New ell, Jr., in regard to the arrangements made with railroads for the transfer of those attending at reduced rates.

The Fine Arts.

SOME OF THE PRODUCTIONS OF MR. F. TUTTLE, OF GENEVA, N. Y.

There are some deaf-mutes, who have a singular capacity for drawing and painting. In the New York Institution class of drawing has produced several young amateurs who will make their mark at no distant day. At present there are young men in the community who are fine artists, and make painting a profession. Among these, and in the first rank, is Mr. Francis M. Tuttle. His specialty is portrait painting, in preference to landscape or animal reproduction, yet we have seen several of the latter specimens of his brush, which are of no mean order. In the parlor of a gentleman of his native city there hangs a small painting of a sleeping kitten, with every lineament portrayed, and remarka-bly natural and life like. Mr. Tuttle happened to paint it in this wise. The last offspring of the household cat one day walked into his studio, and fell asleep on a rug near the door. The artist seized his brush and transferred it to canvas. The gentleman visiting his studio soon after, saw and admired and purchased it.

In portrait painting, Mr. Tuttle has made his mark, and his productions hang in the galleries of the leading families of Geneva. One of his very best efforts is his painting of a deceased daughter of a Mr. Wheat, of Geneva. It is full length size, and represents the little one stopping on the walk after a tiresome tumble with her hoop; the back ground is admirable, being the gentle slope from the house to the lake side, with the eastern shore of the Seneca, and the lighthouse point farther back. The habitual expression is well portrayed, and the flesh tints clear, and the parents think the portrait perfect.

Recently Mr. Tuttle painted a cabinet size portrait of the brother of Admiral Augustus Craven, U. S. N., which is at once a grace to the gentleman's parlor and an advertisement to the artist.

Last spring Donaldson's baloon passed Geneva, and Mr. Tuttle, catching a glimpse of it, made some mental memoranda, and shortly produced a remarkable representation on canvas, which was immediately bought.

We must not forget to mention the superb full length portrait of Mrs. F. M. Tuttle, which hangs in the artist's parlor. To be appreciated it must be seen. Were it sold it would bring over a thousand dollars, but we think Mr. Tuttle would furnish a like size, and elaboration to his patrons for half the

At the time of our visit the artist was engaged upon a couple of cabinet size portraits for a Mr. Schefflin, and Rev. Mr. Van Rensellaer. This is quite an effort, Mr. Tuttle being required to paint both exactly alike, and to reproduce from a minature likeness.

All things have their limit and their end. So we thought, as we stood with the artist watching a glorious sunset, and wondering if he could paint what appeared in the western horizon. Hardly, unless he had the sunbeam for his my surprise, and said, "Yes, I was born with free return tickets from Springfield colors, and the shadow for his canvas.
